

Onitis alexis (male)

the clypeal ridge is closer to the frontal ridge than to the front of the head.
(compare to the similar species O. aygulus) tubercle

frontal ridge

clypeal ridge

Russ Barrow

pronotum usually with a green or coppery sheen brown wing coverings (elytra), sometimes with a green sheen

(inset) male has a single spur, resembling a rose thorn, pointing away from the body on the rear femur. The female has a smooth rear femur

Russ Barrow