

Euoniticellus pallipes (male)

Dark patches on the pronotum are characteristic of both E. pallipes and E. africanus

A slight curve in this ridge is the distinguishing feature for male E. pallipes

1 mm

Russ Barrow

Characteristic dark spots on the pronotum. E. pallipes has two distinct pairs of patches. The middle and rear patches are usually of comparable intensity

E. pallipes is easily confused with E. africanus. Examination of the ridges on the head is the most reliable way to tell them apart

1 mm

Russ Barrow